

Volunteers in California State Parks

Wanted: Nature-ally Interesting People

*Do you hear
the outdoors calling?*

Are you creative,
enthusiastic,
motivated, and
interested in taking on an environmental challenge?

California State Parks needs you to help with the preservation, restoration, and interpretation of parklands. As a volunteer, you will be among an important group given the tools and training to ensure that California State Parks are preserved for the benefit of generations to come.
